Comments

“ This was a hard day for me. To say goodbye to you. I was in disbelief when I found out. You were one of the toughest people I know. I will always remember your smile and your love that filled the room. The softest little hands. I regret that I didn't come by every day to say hey and to tell you how much I love you. I hope your looking down and watching over all of us. It's so hard to say goodbye. Grandma I know your in heaven with no pain and your just a laughin with Papa. Watch over me and know I will always hold you close to my heart. Every time we laughed, every Christmas and Thanksgiving. They won't be the same. When God took you, he took a piece of me. I love you grandma. Forever and ever. See you again one day.
