“ Mr Wilson was my eight grade science teacher at Haverford School. He was a kind man that made the effort to individually connect with each child to bring out the best in the student. I still remember lessons he taught regarding life and his infectious smile towards a job well done. He built confidence in me running after school and encouraging me to always try to better myself. Mr Wilson had an impact on my life.

“ *I was sorry to read of Mr. Wilson's passing. He was my 9th grade science teacher at The Haverford School, and he was fun. For one thing, he played alt-rock station WYSP while we did experiments. Also, he was a superb photographer, and would attend our sporting events, take photos of us, and then give us prints. Two of my favorite photos from high school Mr. Wilson took. I'm looking at one of them now as I type. In addition, he had a good sense of humor. The first day of class he asked each of us to stand up and give the rest of the class a quick bio. After several boring bios "John" stood up, prattled for a bit, and then said that his parents were in the iron-and-steel business. After a dramatic pause, John continued, "That's right...my father irons and my mother steals." The rest of us doubled over in laughter, as did Mr. Wilson. I'm sorry for your loss. “ Geoff had a funny personality. He always had a funny line, or retort. A pun, or quick observation. Geoff also liked to cook and grill a few things. He made the best smoked salmon, and knew just how long to smoke it. He made the best waffles, using his special waffle insert to make these wonderful concoctions with.

We will miss Geoff, as he added to our family, a sort of quirky life that we were missing.

*Love,
Nancy and Gordon Rowlinson*
