“ A step-parent is an amazing person. They made a decision to love another's child, Ada never made me feel like a step child. To her I was just one of her children, I will always love her for that. My biggest regret in this life, is that I have missed so much with my second family, I have always kept you in my thoughts and my heart. I love you all, and with my strong faith, I know we will be all together again.
