Tribute Wall

“ Mrs. Annie was a dear, sweet woman. She was one of the types of people who was honest and upfront with you-whether you liked it or not. I enjoyed that about her. She was "old school", meaning she came from an era that believed in hard work, honesty, and integrity. Our family was not priviledged to know her that long, but her absence will be felt. I apologize I wasn't able to be there for her visitation or service, however I didn't find out about her passing until about 6:00 pm on Monday night. Please accept my belated condolences. May you always treasure her memories and life legacy as you attempt to carry on through the grieving process. Find comfort in the fact that Mrs. Annie is at the one place that she hopes to see all of you one day...Heaven.##imported-begin##Tammy McDowell##imported-end##
