“ I was Anthony’s and Nan’s home health nurse for a very long time. Nan was so proud of her dolls and both of them were always cooking. I cared for Nan through her breast cancer and hugged Anthony as he cried for her for a long time after her death. Boy did he love her so much. One day he called me and asked if I had picked up his scissors. He sat at the table in the same place with his mail and always put the scissors back in the same spot behind him on the shelf. The next day upon my visit he was beside himself with awe because he found the scissors in Nans spot in their bed. He just knew it was her and she was there still. He always filled me up with good food and homemade pastries. He’d even give me some for my daughter. My favorite was what he used to make for Nan. English muffin pizzas. I lost touch with Mr. Lipari years ago when I changed jobs but tonight on Sunday before Memorial Day I had a Facebook memory of a picture of his pizzas that I posted so proudly with the caption “perks of home health”. I had to look him up because something told me he had passed on and I found this obituary with sadness. I’ll never forgot you Mr. Lipari. I’m glad you’re reunited with Nan where you are happy.

“ Tony lived at Inlet Coastal Resort for little over a year where I was one of his caregivers, he kinda grew on my later in his life,he would tell me about his travels in the service which was always interesting to hear. He would call me Cora and described me as the girl who hair was swirled on top...lol..I would answer by that name. He tried to reach me simple words in Italian but I couldn't pronounce...I must say he will be truly missed...always happy to see me with a big smile on his face and would say there go my friend...
