“Carla was such a sweet soul. I remember the funny moments we shared at school concerts. She and I went by a first name basis after she told me “My dad said the sweetest sound anyone can ever hear is their name.” Children had such a fond affection for her, and they would giggle and jump when entering her classroom. When I was going through tough times after I moved back to Florida during the pandemic, I would call her and she had the most encouraging things to say. She and I would share political banter during both of Trump’s elections and her love for Jesus was the underlining of every word she spoke. Her love for her husband was seen in the ways her eyes lit up when she mentioned him. Carla, I know you are still wearing those pretty dresses, red lipstick and heels up there in heaven, laughing loud and smiling bright. We will miss you. ❤️

“ When you only meet someone once, but you remember them it shows what a special person they were.

Carla and her brother brother visited us (second or third cousins) in NY in late 1970's. It was enough of a fun, happy visit to create a lasting memory. May she rest in peace.
