Tribute Wall

“ I learned about Chelsea while looking for information about the little girl who passed away on the same day, and who's name is right next to her's on the "Cancer Kids" Memorial wall. Cheyenne and Chelsea probably walked into Heaven right next to each other, and are no doubt "study buddies" in their Angel training today. It wouldn't surprise me to find out they're helping other kids on their journey to God's Kingdom right this minute. Even though I only felt about one percent of your grief when I read her story, please try to remember that no matter how much it hurts today, at the end we will all see that it was worth it. Until then, know that both Chelsea and Cheyenne will be remembered in the prayers of someone who never heard of them while they were on Earth, but who's spirit they touched from Heaven.##imported-begin##Michael##imported-end##
