“ The service for Christine I thought was a beautiful tribute to her life. I only had the pleasure of knowing her some time after Ashley & Ricky got together. She was all about family and faith. She amazed me how strong she was going through so many medical problems. When I became sick she was my inspiration and my rock. She has helped me along on my journey. I now send a prayer for peace to all the Sager family on their new journey with her memories.

“ Christine you were such a wonderful strong woman. I have great memories hanging out with Ashley and you and chuck when you lived up her in Milford Ma on water st, and visiting you down in Myrtle Beach and At Lake Murray. You always treated me like family and I considered you like family. I will miss you but know that you are no longer suffering and are at peace in heaven. Until we meet again. Love Scott

“ You were such a wonderful person. Even after we moved away, Brandon always talked about you and Chuck. You guys always had funny conversations and he loved chatting with you. Maybe that's why it was so hard for me to come see you after he died. My prayers are with Ashley and Chuck as they grieve your wonderful life and the love you had for them. Rest in peace beautiful soul.

“ Last year when Ricky proposed to me at Disney, I couldn't wait to tell my mom. It was so early in the morning, I knew she wouldn't be awake yet and the anticipation was killing me. I called my dad and told him to wake her up. She called me right as we were about to get on Space Mountain. When we got off, I called her and told her to get on Skype. When we started the video, I told her we had big news and then flashed the ring in front of the camera. It took her a second to figure out what she was looking at, and then the smile and joy on her face was priceless. She was so happy. I was so happy. I remember dreaming of the day we would go dress shopping and the days we would spend wedding planning. I would never have imagined at that time, that 5 months later we would get the devastating news that mom had cancer & only 6-9 months to live. I rushed my wedding planning, and we made an appointment to go look at wedding dresses. I had no plans to buy a dress that day, I just wanted my mom to have the chance to see me in a wedding dress. It only took 3 dresses for me to find my perfect princess dress and I am so grateful that my mom was there to witness it all. Knowing she wouldn't make it to our wedding, we planned a small unofficial ceremony at her house on the lake in November. I am so grateful we had that beautiful day. I am so thankful to the friends and family that came to share that special day with us. I am thankful that we could give that experience to my mom, to witness Ricky & I exchange vows. I know she will be with me the day that I walk down the aisle in that beautiful princess dress. She will be my Angel, always watching over me. I just wish I could hear her voice and give her a hug. ❤️ I love you Mom.

“ I remember when you all lived in Florida. We were so close back then. I spent the night at your house (Condo) and she would have me brush her hair. She said it relaxed her. She was such an amazing women and I'm so happy I had a chance to be part of her life.

“ Too many memories to share....most filled with laughter and joy and a few with tears. What a fighter this woman was. I've never seen anything like it - such a will to live and a passion for life. She accomplished what she wanted to - to see her beautiful daughter married and celebrate one last Christmas. Her suffering is over, thankfully. It went on too long. I can still hear her laugh. I will fondly remember our times at the Sanctuary, playing Go, her love of our puppies, the "marshmallow bed", our many long conversations about life. She always gave the best advice. She was my best friend and I will miss her terribly but I am so glad she is no longer in pain and I know she is with all of us who loved her so. Love, hugs and prayers to Chuck, Ashley, Donna, Marcia and Charlene as they adjust to the new normal. What a blessing we all received to have Christine in our lives. Forever grateful for that friendship.
