“ Mona, Christopher, Kimberly, Justin, and Devon, we have lost one of the best. I just found out yesterday, and I've prayed for you all since.

Although Chris came into my life only six years ago, he made such an impact on everyone that he befriended. I never had a brother, but I imagine he would have been like Chris.

From the first time we met, he treated me as a friend. The things he spoke of that first encounter, and almost every time we talked, including just a few weeks ago, were the stories and the lives of his family. He never went a day without mentioning most of you, and how home life was going. He talked about all of you, and hardly missed including Betty.

He was such a great friend. We played poker, played golf, worked together, laughed at each other, we stood up for each other, we joked, we picked, and on several occasions we cried with each other. I will miss that so much.

He had so many friends, I'm sure others feel the same way that I do. I am grieving as I did when my Dad, and then my Mom passed. Please let me know if there is anything I can ever do, for any of you. Chris had my new number in his phone, or you can call Chuck H., if you lose it.

Chris, I hope you can laugh at my emotions, just know even as I type this, you've brought a smile to my face. I love you buddy, and one day we'll play that course in heaven, and we'll both be below 80! And by the way, you made one great impression while you were here, and did one heck of a job to have such a beautiful family.

RIP friend.

“ Chris you truly was a good friend all the years I known you. My memories of you of course take me back to the many nights we stayed up playing POKER !! We always had fun even tho we were out to take each others money. I don't recall either of us getting mad at each other. I knew if we were in AC and I lost money and you were winning you would loan me money without hesitation and vise versa ..that's true friendship. The one thing I always was amazed by you ,was the way you handled losing ..way better then me...and you always showed a lot of respect to others . I really missed not having a running partner to AC when you moved. ..hopefully someday we meet again and i'll be able to bluff you one more time...i'll miss you buddy..RIP CHRIS,

Joey.
