“ Always loved listening to stories Mr. Dix would share with us at various events through the years. He was always there to lend a hug and condolences when they were needed most. Thinking of his sweet daughters during this time.

Eddie was such a nice person, and he always had interesting stories to tell of his many exploits and adventures. I enjoyed listening to his various theories and ideas on life in general. He liked spending time with his family and selflessly took care of all of those who were sick and in need. He will surely be missed. My heart goes out to his sweet daughters and granddaughters.

“ Mandy and Molly I am so sorry about the loss of your daddy. He was a good man and a good friend of mine back in our younger days. Even though we had lost contact with other, I always remembered our great times together. We did run into each other from time to time and he was the same ole Eddie! Our family will be praying for you. Love you both!
