“ I am so sorry for the loss of your mother. The death of a beloved parent is of life’s most difficult experiences. This is a sorrow that Jehovah God Himself will one day remove- Revelation 21:4 says, “He will wipe out every tear from (our) eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning, nor outcry, nor pain be anymore. The former things have passed away.” Meanwhile, may this promise fortify your hope and may God comfort you. You have my deepest sympathy.##imported-begin##Tammy Johnson##imported-end##

“ Every Tuesday in the living room of Agape a group from St. Michael's gather with the residents to have a song fest. Edith with her wonderful smile was always there. We have been missing her for the last couple weeks and will continue to do so. She was such a happy person. At one time I called her Edna instead of Edith and this had always been one of our little jokes. What a great lady who led a great life. Sincerely, Betty Ann Wardman##imported-begin##Betty Ann Wardman##imported-end##
