

Elizabeth Psakis

March 14, 1933 - June 28, 2015

Elizabeth Lafferty Psakis age 82, died Sunday June 28, 2015 at Waccamaw Community Hospital.

Born in Baltimore, MD, she was a daughter of the late George and Elizabeth Psakis. Elizabeth was a professor of English at the University of Cincinnati for over 30 years. She loved animals, the beach, gardening and classical music. She also enjoyed the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

Survivors include her sons, Nicholas Armstrong and wife Kristel of Pawleys Island and Michael Armstrong and wife Allison of Myrtle Beach.

Services will be private.

An online guestbook is available at www.goldfinchfuneralhome.com/obituaries
Memorial contributions may be made to: All 4 Paws <http://all4pawssc.org/donations.html> or Cincinnati SPCA <https://spcacincinnati.org/make-a-donation>.
Goldfinch Funeral Home, Beach Chapel is in charge of the arrangements.

Tribute Wall

DB

“ Liz was one of my absolute favorite colleagues in the English Department at U.C.-- engaged, lively, full of wit and humor, with an open and democratic spirit. She will be remembered with great affection by all the students and faculty whose lives she touched here. My deepest condolences to her family on their loss,

Don Bogen

Don Bogen - July 06, 2015 at 12:30 PM

JM

“ Professor Armstrong (as I knew her) was my favorite instructor while getting my BA. She was a mentor and friend as well. My lifelong love of literature is due to her, and so much of what interests me and enriches my life I learned in her classes and her office. Godspeed, Elizabeth.

Jack W. McKee - July 04, 2015 at 06:41 AM