Conway...Eloise Todd Smith passed away peacefully on June 24, 2021, at her home in Rolling Green Village, Greenville, S.C.

Born June 7, 1926, in Loris, S.C., she was the daughter of Wilbur Lawrence and Ella Jolly Todd. She graduated as valedictorian of Loris High School and then from Rice Business College. They were charter members of Trinity United Methodist Church and of The Riverside Club where she served as secretary until moving to Greenville after Dr. Smith's death in 2007. She assisted Dr. Smith for many years in his veterinary practice and developed the first computer program for veterinary practice management which was widely used throughout the country.

Mrs. Smith was a noted cook, an always gracious and welcoming hostess, and an avid sewer, having invented and manufactured the Tuck and Point Guide which continues to be distributed internationally to sewing enthusiasts.

She was a friend to people of all ages and backgrounds. Two weeks before her death she proudly opened over one hundred birthday cards from family and many of her friends. Throughout her active and successful life her greatest joy was always being a loving, understanding and devoted wife,

Mrs Smith was a sweet and beautiful lady. Always smiling..I remember her chaperoning parties at the Riverside club in the 50s. I was 12 or 13 years old and I would always ask her to dance. She would always accept And with a big smile .

As a child and young adult I always enjoyed and looked forward visiting the home or shop of Dr. Joe and Mz. Eloise. My Dad's favorite stories almost always included the Smith's, the Greens, usually a few cats and the Cutie Pie. My condolences to the family on the passing of an icon and era and a wonderful sweet woman.

To a truly delightful and special friend. I will forever cherish our memories and friendship.

Many an heirloom creation has been beautifully embellished using Eloise's Tuck and Point ruler. Eloise lovingly taught, encouraged and made me laugh. What a lovely legacy. Thank you Miss Eloise.
