“ Rachel (Curtis) is a longtime friend of mine, and that's initially how I met Eric almost 20 years ago. There was always a group of us from Rotterdam who would hang out and have fun, whether at a music festival or hanging out at someone's house. My memories of Eric are filled with his ALWAYS smiling or laughing face, he was genuinely cheerful. He was a good friend and will be truly missed. My deepest condolences to his family.

“ I grieve for this young man and his family. He and Brittany had a zest for life and seemed to live it fully. In pictures I see Ryze looking at his Dad with pure love and I hurt for a little boy who will grow up without that special bond. Give your sorrows to God Brittany, he will help you carry them. Love Great Aunt Vicky

“ Our nephew Eric was an exceptional person, in so many ways. He looked at life through piercing blue eyes.

Eric was unfailingly respectful and thoughtful to me and my family, and I believe to everyone. I appreciated how much he seemed to enjoy talking with me. I liked listening to his tales of whatever new venture with which he was involved. For example, he started his own landscaping business quite a few years back. He was definitely highly motivated and a go-getter.

I remember taking Eric driving on the back roads near his Aunt Sandy and Uncle Dick's camp. I can't recall if he was even old enough to drive. He was cautious but not timid, not once driving off the road into a ditch or pond! We both had a blast.

He used to come to our house at all hours of the day and night to plow the driveway, for next to nothing. Actually, he didn't want to charge anything at all. But I made sure he drove away with enough to pay for gas and a respectable amount left over for whatever.

He once brought a dirt bike over to our house and asked if I could get it running. I tried, with no success. I really regret that, because he and I would have had great fun hitting vast network of trails just down the street.

We were very happy for Eric when he and Brittany married, moved to the Myrtle Beach area, and started his own business helping others. And then became a father to their son Ryze, whom he adored.

Aunt Kathy and I, and my entire family, will miss Eric very much.
