“ It?s so hard to find words of comfort at a time like this. However, where words fail you, faith will pick you up and carry you. So I try to find comfort in the belief that our beautiful Erica is now with God. She is not gone forever. Her memory and spirit will live on through all the souls that she has ever touched. Erica was the embodiment of beauty. So when you find beauty in life, you will see her there. When you take the time to appreciate a beautiful sunset, a flower in bloom, or a gold finch fluttering outside of your window, I hope that what you really see is Erica. She is there, only she is now looking after us. I find comfort in believing that our beautiful Erica is in the company of Grammie, and you could not ask for better guardian angels. Erica will be with us always, as long as we take the time to pay attention to the signs, remember her, and have a little faith. I love you all.##imported-begin##Cousin Susan McNeel##imported-end##

“ Erica was truly a person that would walk into a room and put a smile on everyones face! I remember when we met in the 5th grade we thought it was so cool we shared the same name and last name initial. We made so many memories and had such great times together! It seems like just yesterday we were buying those razor scooters and scooten everywhere we went. Even though we had to split once highschool came around we both knew that we would always have a place for one another in each of our hearts because best friends could never be forgotten! Erica will be deeply missed by all and will remain in everyones hearts she touched! Its so sad and unbelievable to think shes gone but yet it puts a smile on my face to know that she is in the good hands of god watching over us! Im so sorry and my blessings and prayers go out to all of her family and friends!! **We love you Erica** ~Erica W.~###imported-begin##Erica Wade###imported-end##

“ Erica was one of the nicest and sweetest girls i have ever met. Her smile and personality will always be remembered at SJHS. I am a year younger than her and didn't really know her to where we were really good friends, but sometimes she would sit with her cousin Brittany and I at lunch and we would walk past eachother in the hallways when the bell rang and we would smile and wave and give eachother loud Heys. just for laughs. I'll never forget her comical crack ups about how people stand in the long lines to get chicken every thursday and how it would be cold when we actually got it...but yet we'd be standing in the line as we joked about it. I remember this past summer when she worked at chik-fil-a. Me and one of my friends stopped to get some lunch and she was doing the drive thru and she forgot to give us straws. so we pulled back around the drive thru and she asked to take our order and we told her that yeah we would like to order some straws and she was trying to make us pay 5 cents each for them. Erica will always be with us when we walk through those hall at SJHS, she'll be with us when we are at all of the school functions like at the football games. she always be with us when we stand in that chicken line on thursday and she'll probably be cracking on me because im waiting to eat the delicious tasting cold chicken. Erica will always be remembered because of her great smile and one of a kind personality. its just good to know that God has a perfect new good little Angel. Every time i think about that it just makes me smile and lets me know that God is taking care of her. and that she is watching down on us.
