“ Ernest was a neat fellow and I feel privileged to have known him, and shared the Lee name as I was blessed to be married to his son, Bob, until his death from cancer in 2007. Ernest always had that twinkle in his eye and you knew he was thinking up something - you just never knew what was coming next - he did enjoy laughing. I'm sorry we didn't live closer so that we could spend more time sharing and laughing together. I am grateful to Tammy who took such good care of him always, and he told me many times "she's like a daughter or even better" - Thanks Tammy wish I could have helped you more. My thoughts and prayers are with you all. Love, Wanda Lee Bobby's widow##imported-begin##Wanda Lee##imported-end##

“ We knew our trip to visit grandpa last summer was going to be special. He always amazed us with his energy. Loved his wit. His mind was so sharp. He loved family around. The funniest memory with him last summer will have to be watching Fantastic 4 with him. You just never knew what was going to come out of his mouth. Thought Kyle was going to fall out of his chair from laughing so hard!! We have all been blessed. Him and grandma are going to be missed. Have faith we will be with them again.##imported-begin##Randy, Cindy, Kyle & Tabitha DeWitt##imported-end##

“ I wish that I had been closer to Granddaddy Lee; just our life paths didn't lend us that opportunity. My heart goes out to the family that was close to him, as I will always cherish the fond memories that I was allowed to have with him. May God comfort you all, and with much love, one of his Granddaughters, Debbie.##imported-begin##Deborah Lamb Lee##imported-end##
