“ A kind and loving mother, grandmother, companion and best friend, Evelyn was a role model for others to emulate. She was selfless in her love for her family and friends, had great dignity and poise, was always very elegant when going out, and was a beautiful person not only physically but also inwardly as well as spiritually. She was a compassionate and very caring human being and was always ready to help those she loved. She loved to laugh and reminisce times gone by, reflect upon important lessons learned as well as speculate upon the possibilities of those still waiting to be discovered. She enjoyed attending cultural functions wherever they might take place and loved to share their impact upon her in animated discussions complemented by a glass of wine. For the past thirteen years, we were the best of friends in South Carolina. Her absence leaves a tremendous void in my heart!###imported-begin###Anna Maria Ford###imported-end##
