“ Please accept my condolences at this time for the loss of your loved one. During distressing times such as these, it has been strengthening to rely on Almighty God. 2Cor.1:3,4 lets us know that God is the father of tender mercies and of all comfort during our times of tribulation. It is so comforting to know that He does care about what we are going through at moments such as these, so know that he is there for you. When you find the time, please read the words of Rev. 21:3, 4 where a time is spoken of when death will be no more. I look towards this time period with great anticipation. The concept of death being gone forever, seems so unreal, but with God all things are possible. Find encouragement in the fact that God has promised a resurrection of all those in their memorial tombs John 5:28,29. This resurrection hope provides us with a hopeful outlook in the future and the wonderful prospect of being reunited with loved one who are sleeping in death. We will be able to enjoy all of these wonderful things by means of God Kingdom mentioned at Daniel 2:44. By means of this kingdom government all others will be brought to ruin and it will remain to times indefinite. May you find comfort from these words and read them from your own bible. Through meditation and trust in God, may you look towards the future with hope.##imported-begin##Freda##imported-end##
