“ To my friends in the Aakjer family I am at a loss for words of what to say at a sorrowful time like this. I know first hand that losing a father, grandfather is a terrible thing to go through (as I am sure it is a spouse worst of all) and no matter what anyone says it doesn't help you feel any better about anything. I cannot say that in time things get better because for me they did not. My own father was taken from me 12 years ago at 52 yrs of age and I still miss him terribly daily. What I learned over this time though was that I do not grieve anything for him - because I know he is with our Savior Jesus Christ now. Rather I grieve because I miss his presence in my life. What makes me smile though when I feel real down is the knowledge that I will see him again someday and in the scope of eternity it will be in the blink of an eye that we will be together as family again - in heaven where there is no sorrow or tears. I will continue to pray for you all that your grieving process may be tolerable for all of you. I will also miss Mr. Aakjer -my NY Giants fan friend with the strong hand-shake and whom was truly a mans man. God Bless him and you all.##imported-begin##Brian Parsons##imported-end##
