“ I met George on the Bus driving to and from Milford to Downtown Cincinnati. George actually worked for the Metro Bus System. George was a hoot, our friend Steve Hendel and I used to talk to George and have quite a few laughs on the way downtown in the morning. I was a great way to start the morning and end the day... George was always quick witted, and a great sense of humor. We kind of lost track of George over the past few years after he retired and moved out east. But I would always get a joke or email from him. I started thinking of George this morning and realized I hadn't heard from him in a while, and unfortunately found out the worst. Rest in peace George... You are still on that bus ride downtown. Your friend Jim Dickinson
