“ Where do I start. My Grandma was the true matriarch of our family. We always knew she loved us. She guided us with a strong hand never holding back on us. When we were wrong. She let us know it but if when one of us hurt or needed her her arm were open and her home was as well. My greatest memories are of trips to museums and capital buildings and so on. Our trip to Atlanta really stands out. Granddaddy was there for a Simenar. Watching her age with such grace and strength. What a legacy. Until we meet again It is our turn our turn to fight. May we honor her memory well. I love you Grandma and I love you family.
