“ I was saddened to hear the news of Miss Grace’s passing. She was truly a one of a kind find of a woman and a Christian. If you were fortunate enough to know Miss Grace, then you knew one of the sweetest ladies ever. Also if you knew her then you know that she loved with all of her, every fiber of her her being. And that is how she loved the Lord too. She was the best influence on anyone she came across. She set a standard of how to love everyone. I loved Miss Grace, and if you knew her then you loved her too. She was an awesome cook and oh how she loved to bake. And she made some of the best cakes you would ever taste. What an example of a Christian I was fortunate enough to know and love. I know without a doubt that she is with our Lord now and oh what a homecoming I’m sure that had to be. But for the family of Miss Grace, it is my prayer that God gives you peace, courage, and comfort in the coming days and weeks. It is my prayer family that you encourage and uplift each other with sweet and precious memories of Miss Grace during this time of sorrow and remembrance. But remember that Miss Grace would also want us to celebrate her homecoming. May Gods mercy and grace be with you all during this time. I love you all so very much. Heaven is just a little sweeter now. Yes we will miss her but praise God we have the hope and promise of meeting her again one day. Much love to you all.

“ Grace was a very precious person. Truly the love of Jesus filled her and overflowed through her to everyone around her. I don't recall ever hearing a word of criticism from Grace, but she was quick to encourage those about her, She also was a wonderful cake baker. Her family and friends have many fond memories and I hope will comfort each other with those memories.
