“ Ethan is 21 and tomorrow I'll be 59. Time is passing so quickly it's hard to believe we've been missing you for 10 years already. It seems like yesterday and an eternity at the same time. ”

“ I met Helen on AOL. Very, very funny lady. We made believe we were engaged to be married and caused quite a stir for a few weeks. I then met her face-to-face in Port Jefferson (she had family there, I believe), and had a very enjoyable day hanging out with her and, I believe it was her sister. About a year later she came to my neck of the woods with a couple of friends and we shared a ride on the Wonder Wheel, and a good meal at Carolina's Restaurant in Coney Island.

I still have the tiny handcuffs she gave me.

We lost touch after that, but I never forgot such a lively, entertaining person. I am saddened to come across the news of her death, and send belated condolences to her family.
