“ When I think of Uncle Herman, I remember first sparkling eyes and sly grins. We always looked forward to having him play with us while we waited for my parents to get ready for their evenings out together in Winston-Salem. I thought sometimes Mom took longer because she could see we were having such a good time. The last time I saw him was the funeral gathering for Grady. Syd and I were having a quick bite in the Hardees off Highway 52 in Mount Airy. I looked up and saw the back of a head across the room. I said to Syd, "That's Uncle Herman. I'd know those 'White ears' anywhere." Indeed Herman and David were also resting before heading to Dobson. We enjoyed a laugh along with our sadness--as I'm sure you will today at this gathering. Much love, Bryan's Judy##imported-begin##Judith White##imported-end##
