Ilse was my friend for many years—I knew her as she was a client of the bank I worked for. She was a beautiful, generous, funny lady whom I enjoyed spending time with. We had lunches and dinners together and took many photos together. She was a sparkling example of a woman who'd had a hard start in life but made everything wonderful for others. She told me many stories about her husband, and family members. We shared so many great times together and I miss her.
