*I have known Jack through his dedicated volunteer service as a member of the Myrtle Beach Citizens Police Academy Alumni Association (MBCPAAA). When I first met him, he was a quiet man, kind of stayed in the background, but was willing to contribute. As he volunteered more and he spoke more, I realized what an amazing life he lived. He was a true American, sacrificing so much for us when serving his Country, yet he was so humble. He probably never knew how much I admired him and his service to our Country. He made me appreciate the fact that I could move to Myrtle Beach, buy a condo, and live out my dream of living on a beach in a free Country. He was a true hero. It saddened me to know he had residual lasting effects from serving in our military. However, he loved and was greatly loved by Diana and she made him very happy. Someone once told me "as unsatisfactory as it may be, find consolation in the memories and feel fortunate to have loved so greatly." Yes, death is so untimely, but at least he is at peace. I hope peace and comfort quickly finds his friends, family, and especially Diana. You're all in my prayers.
