

James Graham

October 12, 2009

Myrtle Beach James H. Graham, II James Hilton Graham, II age 68, died Monday, October 12, 2009 at his residence. Born in San Diego, CA, he was a son of the late James and Carole Graham. He was a Vietnam Veteran serving four tours in the Special Forces. Jim Graham was a true warrior poet, who captured the pain, brotherhood, and even the laughter of war. His words served as a memorial for so many brothers left behind, and his life was an example of successfully moving on without ever forgetting. Jim was a member of the American Legion and VFW in Murrells Inlet. May he rest in peace, reunited with those men who inspired him throughout his days. Survivors include his wife, Linda D. Graham; three sons, Sean Graham of NM, Christopher Taylor Graham of NJ and James Hilton Graham, III of NC; a step-daughter, Alanna O'Neal of Myrtle Beach; three grandsons, James A. Graham of CA, Pierce Taylor Graham of NC and Conner Nikolas Graham of NC; a half-sister, Sue Grimm of CA and a half-brother, Ricky Macliari of CA. A Gathering of Friends will be held from 10:00AM-12:00PM Friday, October 16, 2009 at Goldfinch Funeral Home, Beach Chapel. Sign a guestbook at www.goldfinchfuneralhome.com Goldfinch Funeral Home, Beach Chapel is in charge of the arrangements.

“ To my fun loving brother. You were never dull, you lived life to the fullest. I always loved your knowledge and usage of words. Your poetry was always thought provoking. I memorized "The Hand" when I was in high school, to this day it remains one of my favorite all time poems. We needed more time together, you mattered to me. I love you and I will treasure your memory and will continue to share your stories with family and friends. Rest in peace, you are gone but not forgotten.##imported-begin##Bert & Suzan Grimm##imported-end##

“ Jim, Where do I start? You are a brother in so many different ways! Thanks for your heart, courage and dedication to so many things that you loved. I have sat on your couch..laughed until i hurt, cried til I could not, taken your advice and give you advice..You and Linda have been a true guiding light for me when I lived there. There is peace in my heart knowing you are in God's house, with the many brothers you have walked with through your life. Love you Brother, Brad.##imported-begin##Brad Hicks##imported-end##
