In addition to his parents, Jim was preceded in death by the love of his life, his wife Irene, in 2009.

He is survived by his three children: Jay Slevin, Brian Slevin and his wife Karen, Michelle Miller and her husband Geoff followed by his three

“ I will never forget the day I first met you. You walked into Causeway's with Jay and Brian, and your big smile was instantly contagious. I remember the sheer joy you had playing pool with your sons. You were always so generous and easygoing; soon, you never even had to ask me for your next beer because I already had one ready. It became a wonderful routine seeing you and the boys regularly, and you always made sure to take care of me.

Our friendship deepened after you brought Michelle into Causeway's. She and I became fast friends, and before I knew it, my family was being invited to your gatherings. You didn't just invite us; you made us a true part of your family.

Over the years, I've been truly blessed to have known you. I watched you be a wonderful husband, a devoted father, and a loving grandfather, but what I will always treasure is how deeply you loved my family. I will carry the memory of your warm hugs and your laughter forever, especially that infectious laugh when Michelle's silliness was on full display.

“ My Dad” ... that’s what I always said, even though he was always OUR dad. He was my best friend, I talked to dad every day and saw him every other day or weekend. There are so many stories that we had, so many laughs. He even got mad when I messed up streaming the Super Bowl bc “my bad” we were watching last year’s game! And, he had money on the previous game.. he so wanted to be mad, but he loved me and had to leave so that he didn’t yell at me. I assure you, he never let me live it down!! Kind of a joke between us. My Father, if you ever crossed his path, he was seriously a gem of a soul, a heart of gold and salt of the earth. I know time heals, but still waiting for that moment.. Dad, my Hero, my Life, will be missed forever. xoxoxox

“ Jim and his family have been friends of mine since 2004 and they are just like family to me. The Slevin Family were the first people we met in the International Club and we have been friends/family ever since. Jim was one of the most kind hearted man and generous that I knew and so much fun to be in a crowd of friends with. He dearly loved his family and they all love him. I will miss seeing his car across the street on Sunday for football you could count on him. I will never forget his generosity in taking 5 of us to Cherokee to the Casino and we had a fun, winning time! R.I.P. Jim though you left us too soon at least you stayed long enough to see that precious great grand daughter Little Irene come into your life and please tell Mrs. Irene when she greets you how beautiful her great grand daughter is. Til we see you again, Cheers
