August 21, 1939 - July 18, 2020

Jean McElroy, born August 21, 1939, passed away on August 18, 2020. To commemorate her 1 year anniversary of her passing, Jean's niece, Lily Hood would like to share these words:

Words from one of Jean's Poems

Love of her husband Mac

Thank you Lord for Macs love,
And your love, shown through him.
He brought me joy and hope again,
He helped me up and gave me courage to be myself.
Thank you Lord for your love,
And making me Macs wife.
For now I know you're with us both
There'll be more joy in life.

Words from Lily – Love of her Aunt/Sister

Lots of fond memories, laughter and otherwise of our childhood and teenage years we were always together.

The big pond changed all that but we still managed to see and call each other as often as we could. You always ended by saying "this is costing you too much money Lilybo” I would reply “you are only “be-kidding”. Reminiscing conversations from our childhood.

You are in my thoughts every single day Jean. Your poems have been bringing me some comfort.

Rest in peace Jean with your lovely husband Mac – Love Lilybo
