“ Jeff, the few years we spent as friends in high school were a blast. Sorry the ride is over so soon for you but at least you'll get to be with Ben once again. Rest in peace my friend.

“ Yesterday I lost the 1 person in this world that knew what I meant when I talked about my family and where I'm from. The 1 person that waited for Santa and the toothfairy and all the wonderful things that childhood brings with me . The 1 person I thought would always be there, all I had to do was pick-up the phone and he would be on the other end. Yesterday I lost my brother . I only hope that sometime, somewhere I told him how much I really loved him. Jeff, I will miss you more than even I knew...I always loved you...no matter what.

“ I'll never forget the many years I was blessed to have you in my life, Jeff. Every second we spent on the beach, in the inlet, standing on the deck and enjoying the sea breeze in Garden City is more precious than gold to me. Rest in Peace.

Your brother,
Matt

Jeff, our heart is breaking, I always thought you would have to bury us ,not this way, you were always there to help us around the house, would cook for me when I did not feel good baby sit me when I was having so much trouble with my heart, and all of that tile you laid for us in the Florida room, you did a perfect job on it, every time I walk out there my heart will break so more knowing that you did all of that in the extreme heat of Florida

I will always remember how much you loved Maxx our cat, I always said you took better care of him than you did of your self.. your Dad and I do not know how we can go on ,the pain is so unbearable ,Rest in peace our precious Son. Until we meet again we love you, I am thankful that every time we talked we always told each other that we love one another, you were always there for me when I needed someone to talk to ,it is so hard saying good bye.
