“ I would like to extend my sincere condolences to the family of Mr. John Bacher. Death is a devastating experience no matter how old a person is. That is because God has put "time indefinite" into our hearts. Ecc.3:11 We long to be with our loved ones. This is a good time to draw close to God by reading some encouraging scriptures in the Bible. Jesus promised us a resurrection. At John 5:28 it is stated: "Do not marvel at this because the hour is coming when all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out." Imagine what that would be like. At John 11:11-44 we have recorded for us the account of Jesus' resurrecting Lazarus. It was a joyful time for his sisters Martha and Mary. In this account we not only read about the resurrection but also we see how Jesus felt when he heard of Lazarus' death. He referred to death as a "sleep" and he groaned in spirit and gave way to tears when he learned of Lazarus' death. This helps us to appreciate that mourning the loss of our loved ones is natural. The bible also promises us a time when death will be no more. At Revelation 21:3,4 we can read about this promise. There will be a time when you Isabelle and your family will be in the company of John again. What a joyful time that will be. I hope these few words have brought you a measure of comfort. You are never alone and God's word is there to comfort you. Remember to pray, it will give you peace and direction. My prayers are with your family.##imported-begin##Suzanne Lombardo##imported-end##
