

John Donald Asman

December 31, 2007

Mr. John Donald Asman, 83, of Oceanside Village, died Monday, December 31, 2007 at MUSC. Mr. Asman was born in New York City, New York, a son of the late John and Rose Asman. He was a U.S. Navy veteran, serving our country in WWII. He was preceded in death by his wife, Dorothy and his brother, George. Mr. Asman is survived by one son, John A. Asman and his wife, Nancy Lee Asman of Vienna, VA; and two grandsons, John R. and Thomas M. Asman, both of Vienna, VA and companion, Jeanne Von Glahn. Services will be private. In lieu of flowers, go out and have a nice dinner with your loved ones.

Tribute Wall

“ January 11, 2008 Dear Asman Family: \tWe were all so deeply saddened when we learned of the passing of our very special friend and co-watercolorist. John was a wonderful, gentle man, and a gentleman as well, with the most spectacular, dry, self-effacing wit. His gift with the paintbrush was outstanding, whether he was creating one of his many Grand Strand pieces, or one of his gorgeous â??half-hourâ? flowers. And only John could make Georgetown look like a beautiful city! \tMany of us knew John from the time he first came to our class at the museum, and as the years passed, we grew to love him more and appreciate his remarkable gifts. He absence has most certainly created a void within our group. \tWe all send our sympathy and prayers to you. Sincerely, \tSusan Duke \tScottie Cowdrick \tMary Ann Dudley \tMarian Pauley \tGail Hansell \tCarol Graf \tMarcelle Cushman \tJoe Dalgliesh \tAndrea Suydam PS: John, you finally graduated!###imported-begin###Mary Ann Dudley###imported-end###

---

January 11, 2008 at 12:00 AM