devoted "Granddad" of Melody Soucy of Dover, NH; Charlotte Pyle of Pittsburgh, PA; and

Louisa Pyle of Strafford, VT.

He was born March 7, 1947 in Exeter, NH to John Knowles and Dorothy (Humes) Knowles, and Jack was a lifelong musician, picking up the guitar as a teenager, playing it and the dobro in a local band and at family functions. In addition to playing country classics, he often made up song parodies and did impersonations, much to the delight of his family and friends. He enjoyed hunting and fishing throughout his life, and later took up golf and skiing. Jack was never one to sit still, and could often be found building, tinkering with, or improving on projects for himself and others.

Jack will be remembered by all who knew him for his kindness and good humor, his intelligence and curiosity, and his affection for his family.
