“ Dear Dot. My heart is heavy and sadden after learning of Joe's death, but I know not nearly as much as yours! As I read, all I could do was "see" flashes of all the wonderful memories that you and Joe helped Norman & I make when we worked with you'll. The good times we shared. I especially remember the special warm & comfort of friendship that I felt when I looked around at Norman's funeral and saw both of you there offering your slience support. I am sorry that I could not be with you in your hour of sorrow. May God be with you. Love, Gloria Infinger###imported-begin###Gloria Infinger###imported-end###

“ Lady Dot and Family, It is with mixed emotions I write. I grieve on Joe's passing, but I rejoice that he is with our heavenly Father. He is no longer in pain. His worldly sufferings are over. He has been made whole again. Joe was a mentor to me. He was a gentleman to be emulated. Always true to his word, and always working for the betterment of mankind and to help people, especially children. I cherished his advice and council. I will truly miss him.
