“ Chris, I have not been able to get you and your family off my mind. You and your family have been in my prayers and in my heart. Three years ago I went though what you are going though. It truly is the hardest thing you can ever go though. Just knowing that you will get to see Joseph one day and wrap your arms around him, helps get you though it. Jesus will carry you when you don't think you can put the next foot forward. I went to his grave today; he is not to far from my son. On one of the foot pieces there, there was a beautiful saying. His first steps will be on the streets of gold, His first words will be hello Jesus, His first person to see will be God. I hope we all will stay right with Jesus so we to can see and walk where our babies are. If you ever need someone to talk to, I would love to talk to you. “ Chris & Alicia, You two are family to me and i'm deeply sorry for what you two are going through. I can't imagine the pain of this but just remember Joseph is in a much better place and he feels no pain. I love you two with all my heart and if you need anything please let me know. To Joseph I never got a chance to meet you but I know you are a little Angel. You will never be forgotten. Love Always, Tiffany Aunt Tiffany###imported-begin##Tiffany Edwards###imported-end##

“ Alicia and Chris, I can't imagine the depth of sorrow and overwhelming emotions you are experiencing at this time. Please know that your Heavenly Father sees your tears, and cares for you in the midst of your sorrow. When King David grieved over the death of his infant, he said he knew that he would see his child again. May the knowlege that you are loved and prayed for, and the knowlege that someday you will see Joseph alive, whole and perfect, be a comfort to both of you. Love and Prayers, Barbara Alicia's grandaunt, and great-grandaunt of Joseph###imported-begin##Barbara Woodbridge###imported-end##
