“ Heather, We are so sorry to hear about your loss, yet we rejoice in knowing your mom is in a better place. I can assure you, from recent experience, that the Lord will provide you with all the comfort you need in the difficult days ahead. Lean on Him for strength and focus on the fond memories you have of your mom. Remember the comforting words Jesus spoke to his disciples in John, Chapter 14: In my Father's house are many rooms...I am going there to prepare a place for you...that you also may be where I am. Your mom is now dwelling in a house prepared for her by God. Embrace His promise that you will see your mom again. We are here for you and will be lifting you and your family up in prayer. All our love.##imported-begin##Bill and Tena Laffey##imported-end##

“ Heather and Family, My sincere condolences to you and your family. No words that are said can ease the pain of losing a loved one or family member. I have never met your mother but simply reading the guestbook makes me believe that your mother has touched many lives. Just knowing that so many have such fond memories should be comforting. Continue to cherish your memories as your mother will always be with you. Peter##imported-begin##Peter Anastasio##imported-end##

“ Heather, my love. If there were words to speak that would ease your pain - I would speak them. If there was some way I could wipe the tears from your eyes and make them glitter, I would. If there was some way I could lift your heart and make you smile, it would be lifted. For now, I can only promise that with time, the pain will lessen. The sun will shine. A new day will come. You will soon look back at all the years and realize how wonderful they were. You will remember all the happiness you brought into your mom's life. You will be thankful for sharing so many years --from your childhood days in England, to your new teen age home in the USA, and through to your current years together. I only wish that I could be there, now, to let you cry on my shoulder as I hold you tight in my arms. Soon, this will happen, and soon we will make all the pain go away. Just think, your Mom is now back at the Alaskan glacier - flying in the seaplane and landing in that beautiful quiet lake where the eagles soared in the blue sky. She is as free as the eagles were. She is looking down at you now. She is at peace --and will be forever more. all my love baby, Ray##imported-begin##Ray##imported-end##

“ Shirley, Andrew, & Paul One day, I suppose, this will all make sense. Until, then, I hope that we can all bring ourselves closer in the spirit of Kathleen. We are separated by such great distances and even today; although I am thousands of miles away, I feel a closeness to you all and hope that you can feel the same. I am sorry that I could not be there to help. Please trust that I was and will always be there in mind and spirit. Your sister and mum is in a better place - away from the madness and suffering of this world. May she look down on us all and smile as we remember her. All the best always. From her best and only son-in-law. Ray###imported-begin###Ray###imported-end###

“ Poul, Dad, Heather, Andrew, and Shirley We can only echo what Nial has said. I couldn't have wished for a better Mother-in-Law. We had our ups and downs but then, what families don't. What we treasure most are the memories of the good times we shared together. Our greatest regret is that we can't be with you as a family but our thoughts are there - although they may be somewhat sleepy at 3.00 am NZ time! We were glad that we were able to talk with Kay last week. Go in peace, MIL, Grandma, know that our love goes with you.##imported-begin##Bridget and Ian##imported-end##

“ Heather, Paul, Andrew, Shirley and families. We were so glad that we made it to the States last October to see Kay and spend some quality time together. Now free from pain, but we have some special memories to treasure, which I know you all will have too and which will bring you comfort in the coming months. We feel very priveleged to have been her friend for over 44 years. Love to all.##imported-begin##JOAN & JOHN BARNES##imported-end##

“ Grandma, Although nothing we write or say is going to change anything, we don't need to say anything for you to know how we feel. I will always remember the times we shared together. It is a shame you will never get to meet Louisa, but you would of liked each other. I know that wherever you are, you're giving someone a piece of your mind, and that makes me smile. Goodbye Grandma...

“ Dear Heather: At this most painful time, you and your family are in my thoughts and prayers. Loss of a parent, at any age is most difficult to bear. Yet, we have to accept the will of the Supreme Being. Death is but a small stop in the soul's eternal journey to the ultimate bliss. May God grant your mother's soul well deserved peace, and courage and fortitude to you and all the family members to face the profound loss with strength and dignity.##imported-begin##Gaurang G. “ Heather, Andrew, Paul, Shirley, Cliff... Please accept my heartfelt prayers that I am sending your way. I know that the past few weeks have been some of the most difficult you have seen, but know that throughout it all, so many have sent words of hope, love, prayer and support. Kay was truly a wonderful woman, who touched all of us in some special way. I know we are all grateful for the presence she had in our lives, however small or large, and the opportunity to enjoy her laughter, wit and amazing sense of adventure...
