“ I went to school with Larry and his cousin Donnie from 3rd grade to graduation. We were not friends, but I just want to say: I remember sitting in 3rd grade when Valentines were passed out. I thought to myself, there are both too cool to give me a valentine. I went happily home that day, telling my mother that the cool boys gave me valentines.

I only wish we had been friends because at graduation, I still thought they were cool.

“ I'm so sorry to just now hear about Larry, I worked with him early in my construction career and learned so much from this man. I'm still in construction and use some of his famous "sayings" and knowledge daily! I only wish I would of taken time out to stop by and thank him for everything. I also just heard that Erwin Balk past away not to long after Larry, both these men knew each other very well and both thought me more than they'll ever know! Thank you my friends! My condolences to the families.
