“ Pap is to be remembered as Loving Larry from here on out; as I know there was some dispute. He was a good man, who wasn't afraid of showing his love for his children and grandchildren (as well as the late night steak or chicken dinner, eta 2200). He taught me a few things, most of which are to my personal embarrassment, but the main lesson being that there is never a bad time to be a good friend. May Pap live on through our hearts and thoughts, and may he guide us in never letting our friends drink alone. We love you, and we'll miss you for now, and forevermore.

“ Dee,

Just a short note to say that I deeply feel your sorrow in the loss of Larry, your long time "better-half". I hope that Larry is in a better place now and has only ridden his bike off into the sunset. The past twelve months has not exactly been a good one for all of us retired GPC folks. In case you missed it, Rob Beeson passed away from prostate cancer almost the same time that Kiyomi passed away last June. Rob's wife Laurie is still living at the same place in KC. Anyway, deepest sympathy and best wishes for your future.
