“ Lee, I knee him as "PopPop" was the only grandfather I ever knew and an amazingly patient and kind man. He was loved and liked by all who knew him. He loved my grandmother and her children (including my mother) like they were his own and my mom always said he was a great man. I loved how my grandparents called each other, "Mama and Daddy" even long after they were grandparents themselves. I wish I had had more time with them both. The only time I ever heard Lee speak at length about his Military service in WW2, was an interesting and engaging conversation he had with my then boyfriend (now husband) David Wright when my grandparents came for my Highschool Graduation Ceremony in 2002. I like to think that they are golfing 🏌️ and dancing to their hearts content in heaven and adored by all as they were in life. I hold you close in my heart PopPop and my own father respected you so much that he chose to be called, "PopPop" also for my children. Love Always, Alexandra Lee Wright

“ LaRue Gebicke, While we do not know one another, I just want to tell you that Lee was known by his golfing friends as a good "ball stricker" who was kind and thoughtful of those who were not as gifted. I played many rounds with Lee from 1985 untill Hugo and then whenever I would see him it was always a treat. A friend, Clyde Jantze##imported-begin##Clyde Jantze##imported-end##

“ My dear friend, LaRue... my heart is aching for you! Only illness would have kept me from Lee's service today -- otherwise I would surely have been there to hug you and tell you I love you. You know how Pat and I felt about Lee -- just a really, really good guy. I expect there's quite a reunion going on right now among the Cops & Robbers in Heaven!! I can just see them welcoming Lee into their midst. Hold onto to your faith, dear LaRue, and know that many friends are holding you up in prayer. I am here for you, should you ever need to talk, or just "abide" with an old friend who really does understand. All my love and prayers, Jani###imported-begin##Jani Barbati###imported-end##

“ I am very sorry to hear about the passing of Lee Gebicke. He was a member of the 461st Bombardment Group, 766th Bomb Squadron stationed at Torretta Field near Cerignola, Italy during World War II. There is an Assciation of members of the Bomb Group and they unfortunately lost contact with Lee several years ago. The Bomb Group still holds reunions for the surviving members and their families. I am the webmaster of the 461st BG website www.461st.org and the editor of their newsletter, the Liberaider. The December issue of the Liberaider will have Lee mentioned in the TAPS section.##imported-begin##Hughes Glantzberg##imported-end##
