“ I met Lori the first time over two years ago. My daughter was transferring from USC to HGTC. Mrs. Pharr was so wonderful to us. She stayed over her work time that day to help Mary Beth, my daughter, with her class selections to make sure everyhting transferred. We then went to see her in May of last year as Mary Beth had changed some classes and again Mrs. Pharr helped us. She was an angel to us then and I know she is an angel looking down on us now. I was so sorry to hear of her sickness. She talked with us about her family and escpecially her grandchild. In just my short time of interaction with her, I grew to love her. Lori was a wonderful person and I pray that God will give you comfort in this time. Marilyn Morris of Andrews, SC###imported-begin##Marilyn Morris###imported-end##

“ The weekend at Harbor Island with Lori, Laura, Lynn, Ina, was such a wonderful time. True memories. I remember laughter and getting to know wonderful women. We rode bikes on the beach right next to the ocean, ate a local restaurants, looked for shark's teeth, talked, went swimming in the pool, climbed the lighthouse stairs, cut out Montessori school cut outs (but not to Ina's specifications). I agree with you, Ina, we should have not let busy schedules get in the way last year. I know for a fact that Lori is in a better place now, but we will miss her tremendously.##imported-begin##Virginia Sheffield##imported-end##

“ I was blessed to have Lori as a friend from 6th grade through high school in Michigan. She was always so bubbly & happy, and great fun to be around. I got to see her again at our 15 year high school reunion. Loved that adorable South Carolina accent she had taken on!! We lost track again until we all joined Facebook this past year with our classmates. What an amazing woman Lori turned out to be. I'm so happy I was able to get to know her all over again. She has a beautiful family, and I know they all meant the world to her. I wish we all had more time with Lori. I don't think I've ever known anyone to be so strong, faithful & courageous when facing terminal cancer. Truly inspiring!! Big hugs to all her friends & family along with my deepest sympathy.##imported-begin##Debbie Upton Meyer##imported-end##
