“ Both I and my husband will miss Lorraine (aka Lori), especially when I would assist her to bed she would get up from her comfy chair and would turn towards my hubby and stick her hand waving her fingers at him saying “goodnight Malcom, see you in the morning.” Don’t know where she came up with the name Malcom but my husband just would say “night, night sleep tight.” She will definitely be missed but we both know that some sweet day we’ll see her again. Fly high our sweet angel. Love & Miss You
