“ You were my father and for three days you were my daddy. Three days of my entire life I felt complete. I never thought I would ever morn the loss of someone I wasn't blessed to be raised with there is not a day since we first talked that I haven't wanted to sit next to you and listen and tell and hold you but not cry. I'm only crying now because I have no other outlet for the three days of love we shared. Thank God for Marie Shelby. .. she is the only one who has seen us, knows me and accepts me. My oldest son Jonas looks just like us Max. I wish you could meet your grandchildren. I wish I could meet my uncle and my cousins. I will forever be an outcast in this life BUT I will never forget your pride of me or your lil chiuaua on your golf cart. I'll never forget you calling every 15 minutes telling me to "stay on business" headed your way. In fact since you e been gone all I can hear is you saying. Stay on buisness and I'll call you right back.

I never got that call back but I knew. I knew. Like I've always known. Your father, my grandfather I suppose used to pick me up and drive me to the corner store and let me pick out 25 cent candy. I remember him and those trips that no one explained to me. Your mother drew with me on the sidewalk with chalk I remember her curiosity and glowing love. You yourself saw me as a toddler I remember the sun was too bright for me to see you.

I am forever regretful we missed so much of our lives together and even more grateful to have felt your embrace.

I love you, Malcolm

Your only child. Your daughter.

I'm so very curious if this is the Malcolm Dearman I knew. Did he live in Jacksonville in the 70's? If so, I am so very saddened by this. Malcolm has been on my mind for many years. I dated him a few times. My parents loved him as he would always bring them fresh grouper. If this is the Malcolm I knew, I'm so very sorry for your loss. He was always such a kind gentleman.

I was clicking thru cable channels and came u on a Commercial fishing program. I thought back to 1976-85 I am pleased to say we were friends, I cut his hair when he was in Jax. He was an awesome person, loyal, honest, never heard him say a bad word about anyone. Those who knew him would feel glad.
