“ What an amazing guy. I have so many fond memories with him at Ryan's. He told him about skiing in the alps and said it was one of the prettiest places on the planet. I almost bought his black jeep. He was always so positive.

“ I met you, Mario, 37 years ago when I first moved to Charleston & started working with Sylvia who became like a sister to me. You were like another big brother to me & always kind, funny & welcoming to me & my husband Bobby who also loved & admired you. We will miss you & think fondly of you always. See you in heaven!

“ You, my big brother, will never be gone. You will always be in my heart . . . bigger than life itself. You and I shared many adventures together, lots of laughter, travels, tears and conversations. Your advice never steered me wrong and man could I use some of that advice now . . . how do I go on without my big brother? How do I go on without your late night phone calls or cheesy jokes you would text me? I know that as time moves forward I will hear your voice and advice in my heart and will thank you with a kiss blown to the stars. Rest in peace Freddy, I miss you with all my being.
