“ After hearing so many stories about "the" mother in law I feel as though I knew her. Rest assured she spent her final days being cared for and very loved by both you and Kevin. I will keep her and your family in my prayers.##imported-begin##JANICE REYNOLDS##imported-end##

“ When I read today of Mrs. Foy's passing, it brought me back to a simpler time when all I feared was the "what will I ever do with you?" look that she gave me when she caught me daydreaming instead of learning how to tell time from a cardboard clock face she held up in front of the classroom...but she did promote me anyway, for which I will always be grateful. I will sign this using the nickname she fondly bestowed upon me that year...with deepest sympathy, her "cloud nine kid", P.S. 41, class of '68.##imported-begin##Mary Pendergast##imported-end##

“ Uncle Chet, Justin, and I were very sorry to learn that Margaret had passed away. I had many nice conversations with her over the years while visiting with my sister, Karen, and my niece, Kerrie, and nephews, Daniel, Matthew, and Steven. I especially remember how she enjoyed looking at a book of old Staten Island photos and watching a movie about Staten Island prior to the opening of the Verrazano Bridge that I brought down to Karen's one summer. Our mom and Margaret always enjoyed each other's company, as did our dad, too. Uncle Chet, Justin, and I are very glad that Margaret was able to enjoy being with her beautiful great-grandson, Kellian Michael. We will remember her in our prayers.##imported-begin##Laura Mikos##imported-end##
