

Marvin Barnhill

October 18, 1934 - April 1, 2015

Marvin Wayne ???Barney??? Barnhill was born on October 18, 1934 in Conway, SC to L. J. Barnhill, Sr. and Edna Lightsey Barnhill. He passed away peacefully from natural causes at his home in Little River, SC surrounded by his loving family.

Barney was 80 years young and living proof that even grandfathers can still rock ???n??? roll. His favorite things in life were: taking his grandkids out to breakfast and bragging about them to everyone within earshot, serenading his family with one-man keyboard renditions of that swingin??? classic ??? Kansas City???, every John Wayne movie ever made, Elvis Presley, fishing, the Atlanta Braves, and playing with his country western band Goodfellas at local nursing homes. Barney was a warm, funny man who loved to keep people laughing and entertained. He was always sure to tell his children and grandchildren how much he loved them (a whole lot).

He is survived by his wife of 60 years, Annes; his three daughters and their husbands: Lynn and Randy Carmon, Teresa and Charles Russ, and Pam and Jim Dixon; his grandchildren: Raegan Dixon, Chaz Russ and Kayce White. Kayce and her husband Marcus are expecting Barney???'s first great-grandchild in August and he was really looking forward to having a new fishing buddy.

"Well, he might take a plane, he might take a train But if he has to walk he???'s going just the same: Barney???'s going to Kansas City, Kansas City, here he comes???"
