“ I knew Michele from the Campus Radio Station (WRFT) at Temple University Ambler Campus. She was a year or two older than me and was always kind to me and showed me around as an incoming Freshman. She was very funny and witty and had the same crazy tastes in music that I did. Her and her college roommate (Trish Valenteen) were a constant source of happiness and merriment at the radio station and made me laugh almost every day there. That laughter and that friendship helped me through some dark times during that era of my life. I'll never forget the time Michele accidentally flushed her dorm room keys down the toilet. We never let her forget about that one! We kept in touch a little after college, but lost contact when she moved out of PA. She will be missed by all of her college and radio station friends, that's for sure. My condolences to her family.

“ So shocked and saddened to learn of Michele's loss. We were friends at Temple and reconnected via Twitter. She always had a laugh and a smile when I knew her, and reconnecting with her online and seeing her posts showed me the size of her heart. My thoughts and deepest sympathies.
