“ Words cannot express the sorrow in which I feel for you at this time. We have all lost loved ones in death and it is never easy. It my sincere hope that you turn to God's word the bible at this time for comfort and strength. Please refer to 1Peter 5:6,7, these verses let us know that God is available for us during times of distress and He wants us to come to him because He cares. This scripture is truly comforting and lets us know that we can rely on God. Acts 24:15 lays out a hope concerning both the righteous and unrighteous when it speaks of a coming resurrection. The resurrection hope provides us with confirmation that it was never God's purpose for man to die, but rather live forever according to Ps. 37:29. May you trust in these words and know that they are reliable. Hebrews 6:18 lets us know that God cannot lie so look forward to the prospect of being reunited with your loved one again in the future by means of the resurrection.##imported-begin##Freda##imported-end##
