“ We want to keep our loved ones with us forever, and it hurts so much when forever comes too soon. What if the spirit of your loved one has not left you, but has moved inside your heart to live, never to be forgotten? Treasure your memories now. Memories remind us that we have loved and been loved...that our lives were touched by someone very special. Try to focus on the time you did have. Let the blessings that you shared bathe you with love encourage you with comfort, and inspire you to go on. Until we meet again Pat we love you & will greatly miss you.##imported-begin##Liz Tipton##imported-end##
