“ Pauline was a neighbor to my mother, Eva Conkling, at the Lakes of Litchfield. She was a special friend to my mother for years and was known to bring her split pea soup to share on several occasions. I continued to be friends with her over the years after my mother's passing. I always looked forward to visiting her and listening to her many fascinating memories. I had a long conversation with her just last Sunday not knowing it would be our last. She was a friend and I will truly miss her! Sally Kefauver and family.
