“ I found an old photo album from my time living in MB and almost every pic had Ray in it. I played in a band and was in between deployments and met Ray through my girlfriend at the time Liz. Ray and I became overnight best friends and stayed that way until I rotated back in to Iraq and left the Beach. I have so many incredible memories of him and have no idea why I thought to search him tonight to reconnect. I am beyond heartbroken to see he's not here to laugh and smile a mile wide with me tomorrow. We all lost an amazing soul. My deepest condolences and apologies for poor friendship go out to both his beautiful wife and family. My contact info will be listed below in hopes I can learn more about his impact on this earth since we lost touch. I'm sure it was incredible as it was for me when we met in 2002. I'll always have a terrible tattoo that looks a little better on my right shoulder Ray and I man-dated an afternoon to fix back then.

“ Becky, I am so sorry for your loss. I remember well how excited you were with working at the studio and supportive of my tap dancing. I was so happy for you when you told me you were getting married and sad that you were leaving but knew it was good for you. Please know, that the Lord has wrapped His arms around your husband and welcomed him home. And that comfort and the Lords arms are also holding you during this time.

“ I only knew Ray from when he would pick up carry out orders from the restaurant I worked at. Regardless of how little I knew him, I could still tell he was a caring and genuine individual. Truly a tragic loss. May his family and friends cherish his memory forever.

“ My family met Ray and Becky when my son Lee married the love of his life, Lauren. Two of Lee's groomsmen backed out at the last minute, and Ray, wonderful Ray, stepped up to be a groomsman. Then when my Daughter Carlee was going to CCU, we were down there a weekend and Becky and Ray met us for lunch. They both talked to Carlee about CCU and told her she'd do great. We haven't known them long, but we love them none the less. Rest now Ray. God bless you Becky and the rest of both families.
